RE: Entry of Children into Children's Passport Issuance Alert Program

Dear Mr. Sankara:

The United States Department of State, Office of Passport Services has received your request for entry of Mahawa Sankara into the Children's Passport Issuance Alert Program (CPIAP). On the basis of your request, an entry was made into CPIAP for the child. This entry, which normally remains in effect until the child turns 18 should allow us to alert you if any application for a new or renewed U.S. passport for the children is received. If a passport application is executed on behalf of the child, you will generally receive 30 days to consent or object to issuance of the passport, absent extraordinary circumstances. However, if the applicant can demonstrate that he/she has sole authority to apply for a passport under U.S. law, the passport may still be issued at any time.

According to our Passport records, as of 11/15/17:

- Pending passport application found? Yes
- Record of valid issued U.S. passport book found? No
- Record of valid U.S. passport card found? No

Please be advised that since additional information is needed, we have opened up a preliminary case. To have a complete case, please submit a copy of a government issued photo ID for yourself, and a copy of the child's birth certificate, or other proof of parentage. You may email or fax additional documentation to us, or send them to the address below. Please also complete and return the attached Privacy Act ☒ Waiver. Once we receive the necessary documentation that establishes parental rights from you, we will mark your case as active and send you a letter confirming the completed enrollment of your children into CPIAP.

In most instances, both parents (or legal guardians) with custodial rights must consent to the issuance of a passport to a child under 16. Please be advised that entry into CPIAP alone will not result in an automatic denial of any application for issuance or renewal of a passport for the children. It should, however, enable us to suspend the processing of an application until we contact you. During that time, you may approve issuance of the passport or provide a written objection to its issuance. As described in the Department's regulations, available at 22 C.F.R. 51.28, a written objection to issuance by a person with legal custody rights will usually prevent issuance of a passport to any child under 18 years of age. Since we will need to contact you in the event of a pending passport application for your children, it is very important that you keep us informed of any changes to your contact information. Failure to notify us of your correct address and phone number may result in passport issuance for your child without your consent.

The Children's Passport Issuance Alert Program is not a method for tracking use of a passport. Once a passport is issued, its use cannot be restricted. In addition, be aware that the U. S. government does not have exit controls at the border. The U.S. government does not check the names or the documents of travelers leaving the United States. Additionally, CPIAP does not prevent a dual national child from obtaining and traveling on a foreign passport. If your child has a valid passport from another country, he or she may be able to travel outside the United States without your consent.

We strongly encourage any parent requesting CPIAP entry because of fear that a child may be abducted to review the Department's information about international parental child abduction available on www.travel.state.gov/childabduction, and to contact the Office of Children's Issues at preventabduction1@state.gov. The Department of State places the highest priority on the welfare of children, and we are here to assist you.

Please do not hesitate to contact us should you have questions about CPIAP, or if you require further assistance.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "H. B. [unclear]", written over a horizontal line.
